The Tarco-Russian wars.

Hayes' Message came too late for this issue. It will appear in the DEMOCRAT next week.

We are in receipt of a ticket to the Fair at Starkville, which commenced Wednesday.

In a fracas on Monday night one negro woman stabbed another in the shoulder with a knife.

A great battle was fought near Kars in Asia on Monday in which the Turks sustained a disastrous defeat.

Col. S. M. of this city addressed a large meeting of the citizens of Oktibbeha at Choctaw Agency last Saturday.

Mrs. W. W. Topp, a most estimable lady, and a long time resident, died in this city on Sunday last, after a long and painful illness.

The candidates for the Legislature will be at Old Zion tomorrow (Saturday), and they would be pleased to have a general attendance of the citizens.

We have had a spell of bright, beautiful, warm weather, and farmers have made good speed gathering their crops, which they say are so-so, and not to be complained of.

Judge Sims left on Tuesday evening to fill his appointments in South Mississippi. He will meet Governor Stone here on the 27th. Lowndes county should have a rousing meeting here on that day—one that will bring to mind the old times.

Dr. Rosser, of Virginia, one of the most eloquent of Southern Methodist ministers, arrived in the city on Tuesday. In conjunction with the Pastor, Mr. Wadsworth, he is holding a series of meetings at the Methodist church—prayer-meeting in the day, preaching at night. Preaching on Sunday at the usual hour. We hope that great good will be effected.

Circuit Court, Judge Arnold presiding, met on Monday. His Honor's charge was terse and to the point. Fewer cases than usual are on the docket. We are pleased to learn that the dockets are about clean in all the counties of the District where the courts have been held. The administration of justice without delay, is one of the best marks of good government.

Tramps, we learn, are becoming annoying in those parts of the county lying on the M. & O. Railroad. As winter draws nigh, they will become more numerous. It is said that many burglars and thieves from the large cities have come south on a tramp. Let the Justices of the Peace be vigilant and vigorous in the enforcement of the vagrant act.

Our informant was mistaken in regard to the old negro woman found dead. She had not been dead several days. She was a city pauper and had been confined with a cancer for many weeks. A physician attended her the day before she was found dead. We did not intimate that she had been neglected. We supposed that she had died suddenly without previous sickness, and that living alone no one knew of her death.

The United States, estimated by the bulk of its products, ranks second among the manufacturing countries of the world. For the year ending Oct. 1, 1876, England consumed 1,270,287,000 pounds of cotton, while during the same period the United States consumed 674,638,000 pounds, or 53 per cent. of the amount consumed by England. The consumption in this country is nearly equal to that of Germany, France, Russia, and Austria combined.

Bethel.

We regret that ill-health prevented our attendance at the meeting at Bethel last Tuesday. There was a fair turn-out; a good dinner was served; and Capt. Field made an excellent speech on the issues of the day. Short enlivening speeches were also made by Maj. Geo. Whitfield, Capt. Humphries, J. T. Harrison, Jr., and Mr. Myers.

The Bethel Association is doing good work in the advancement of reformation and reform and the inculcation of true principles. The resolutions reported by Maj. J. P. Billups and adopted by the Association, contain the best enunciation of doctrines and measures that has been put forth in Mississippi since the war. They go to the heart of the matters which most vitally interest our people. We commend them to the notice of the press of the State, and trust that associations kindred to that at Bethel will be organized all over Mississippi.

Our paper being full, we are able to give our readers only a resume of the Resolutions.

1. The measures of retrenchment and reform inaugurated by the Legislature, are indorsed.
2. The compensation of the members of the Legislature should be reduced to $300 per session.
3. The registration laws should be repealed, and a simpler and more economical plan devised for the qualification of voters.
4. The unjust local discriminations in freight charges by the railroads should be prevented by appropriate laws.
5. A convention should be called at an early day to remodel the State Constitution.
6. Our statute laws should be revised.
7. Counties and municipalities should be prohibited by a constitutional provision from pledging their aid and credit in the building of railroads.
8. Salaries of judicial officers should not be further reduced.
9. The independent movements are condemned.
10. Our financial troubles are attributed to unwise financial legislation.
11. The Resumption Act should be repealed.
12. Silver should be remonetized and a volume of paper currency adequate to the wants of the people should be issued by the Federal Government.
13. The bonded debt of the United States—principal and interest—should be paid according to the terms of the original contract.

We are pleased to learn from his card in the "Independent" that Mr. Theophilus Harvey has withdrawn from the race for Sheriff. We presume there will be no opposition to the ticket put in the field by the white men of Lowndes county. The negroes are beginning to learn that good government for white men means good government for them also. "Equal and exact justice to all men," is, and it always will be, the motto of the Democracy.

We have repeatedly warned the people of Mississippi, and particularly those of the black counties, of the danger that menaces them so long as the Constitution permits the issue of county bonds in aid of railroads. Not a single journal in the State has joined us in the warning, and the people themselves appear indifferent. Very well; when the people find and feel, that they are bound hand and foot, and are in the hands of the Philistines, they can not reproach us; they can not say that we did it; they can not say that we did not warn them of their danger.

GONE.

BY S. NEWTON BERRYHILL.

"Gone!"—
Bark! from the steeple tall and lone
Flouts the money-lender's tone!

"Gone!"—
Another life goes out on earth!
In the world beyond, another birth!

"Gone!"—
List! how the silly old dotard moans,
That wafteth down the monotone!

"Gone!"—
And every bell in belfry high
Responds with deep, sonorous sigh!

"Gone!"—
Still breaks lips and iron tongue
The solemn, and refrain prolong!

"Gone!"—
And thoughts as sad and solemn creep
Across the soul, like shadows deep!

"Gone!"—
For us, some day from steeple lone
Shall float this mortal monotone!

"Gone!"—
My sands run out—my labor done!
The crown of life or loss or won!

"Gone!"—
—Columbus, Miss., Sept. 25, 1877.

Instructions to Special Tax-Payers.

1. The impression prevails among special tax-payers that the penalty of fifty per centum of the amount of the special taxes does not accrue, when the return is made at any time within the month in which business is commenced. This is a mistake. Return must be filed with the collector and amount of tax paid before business is commenced.

2. The special tax year commences on the first day of May, and ends on the 30th day of April succeeding.

3. Applicants for a special tax for a fractional part of a year must calculate from the first part of the month in which they commenced business, and must pay to the end of the special tax year.

4. Retail dealers in malt liquors can not sell spirituous liquors without paying the special tax as retail liquor dealers.

5. Retail liquor dealers can not, as such, sell five gallons to any one person at any one time. Any person desiring to sell in quantities of five or more gallons must make return on blank form 11, and pay the special tax as a wholesale liquor dealer. The word "gallon" here used means "wine gallon."

6. No dealer in wines, spirits, or malt liquors can lawfully sell manufactured or leaf tobacco, snuff, or cigars, without previously paying the special tax as a dealer in manufactured or leaf tobacco, as the case may be.

How the French Workman Lives.

The French laborer gets more for his wages than any other. His food is cheaper and more nourishing. His bullion is the liquid essence of beef, a penny per bowl. His bread at the restaurant is thrown in without any charge, and is the best bread in the world. His hot coffee and milk are peddled about the streets in the morning at a sou a cup. It is coffee, not slops. His half bottle of claret is thrown in at a meal costing twelve cents. For a few cents he may enjoy an evening's amusement at one of the many minor theatres, with his coffee thrown in. Sixpence pays for a nicely cushioned seat at the theatre. No gallery gods, no peanuts, no pipe-smoke, drunkenness, yelling or howling. The Jardin des Plantes, the vast galleries and museums of the Louvre, Hotel Clugny, Palace of the Luxembourg and Versailles are free for him to enter. Art and science hold out to him their choicest treasures at small cost or at no cost at all. French economy and frugality do not mean constant retrenchment and self-denial which deprive life of everything which makes it worth living for. Economy in France means more than any other country, means a utilization of what America throws away, but it does not mean a pinching process of reducing life to a barren existence of work and bread and water.—Jeffersonian Democrat.

The International association of workmen, which recently met at Ghent, was composed of workmen of all nations—Russians, Germans, Belgians, Frenchmen, Englishmen, Swiss, Italians, Greeks, and Egyptians even. Strange to say, though "the general council is located in New York," the United States had but one representative present, "Cassius M. Pape, of Oneida."

The speeches made on the occasion favored absolute universal suffrage, the suppression of the tyranny of capital, the "moralization" of the people, opposition to class legislation, and the upholding of everything calculated to improve or advance the cause of the workingmen.—Memphis Appeal.

That Cat!

No one ever doubted that the Deacon was a good man, but as he pressed one ear close to the pillow, and held his hand tight down over the other, the words which came from his lips—not from his heart!—sounded very much like—"d—n that cat!"

"What is it, husband?" asked the wife rousing up, and just then the atrocious concatenation of all horrid sounds grew louder and yellend.

"That blasted cat!" yelled the deacon, eschewing any further effort to subdue his profane utterances, as he turned suddenly on his back, and kicked off the cover.

"Where is it, husband?" asked the wife.

"Out on the balcony I think," said the deacon. "It's been yawning there this half hour. But I'll fix its hash for it—see if I don't."

Getting out of bed, the deacon found his boot-jack, and grasping it with the rigid clutch of one bent on a murderous errand, he quietly ascended the stairs. In a few minutes he was quietly descended and returned to his place in bed.

"Did you kill the cat?" asked his wife.

"It wasn't a cat," said the deacon. "What, then?" said she.

"It was Frongy Jane," said the deacon, "a sitting at the window in her night-dresses, a looking out in the moon-shine, and a singing one of them new-fashioned love-songs they screech when they thump the piano."

"Sakes alive!" said the good woman, relapsing into slumber. "Well, I do think!"

THE POWER OF LABOR.—The "Christian at Work" continues to urge the desirability of establishing legal restrictions to curb the power of moneyed corporations and it speaks in the following strain of the legitimate political force of labor: "Manufactures, trade and agriculture employ more than nineteen twentieths of the people. And it may be asserted that just as the laboring class raises themselves by habits of industry, sobriety and faithfulness, and added to all constantly increasing intelligence, the result of close observation and reading—just so far as the working masses do this will they make themselves a power in the country, and the justice of their cause the much-needed reforms will become grand and accomplished facts. Unquestionably there is growing up in the country a race of young snobs, who look upon any labor tending to supply the private wants of the people as degrading. But these are mostly the parvenus of the city and suburban towns, and there is no occasion for fearing them, for they are without force or perceptible influence."

Hot Springs Reporter: One of our dealers in furniture recently received from New York several articles in his line, which cost $54.04, and weighed about 800 pounds, and on which the freight was $32.30. He says that the articles in this market can not now be sold for any profit. The charge from Grand Junction here—25 miles—was 83 cents per hundred. The distance from New York to Grand Junction is, say, 50 times as great as from Grand Junction here, and rates over that distance corresponding with the charge from Grand Junction, would have made the freight bill $400 or upwards, or more than seven times greater than the original cost of the articles.

A merchant of this city also informs us, that a few days since he received 425 pounds of tobacco from Lynchburg, Va., on which the freight from Lynchburg to Grand Junction—a distance of 700 miles—was 93 cents per hundred, and from Grand Junction here—a distance of 25 miles—84 cents per hundred.

For these unjust and disproportionate charges, a remedy should be provided, and that, it seems, is only to be found in Legislative restrictions upon all the roads within the State.

No Excuse for Any One Being Out of Employment.

Our attention has been called to some new and useful cooking utensils, recently invented, which make baking and cooking a pleasure, instead of a dreary necessity. One of these is the Patent Centennial Cake and Bread Pan, made of Russia Iron, is so constructed that you can remove your cake when baked, instantly from the pan, without breaking or injuring it, and you can remove the tube, and convert it into a plain bottom pan, for baking jelly or plain cakes, bread, etc. Another is the Kitchen Cook—a plain wire boiler or steamer to hang inside of an ordinary iron pot, for boiling or steaming vegetables, etc., which when done, can be removed perfectly dry, without lifting the heavy sooty iron pot off of the stove, avoiding the danger of burning the hands with the steam in pouring off the hot water, and the vegetables can not possibly burn if the water boils dry, as the steamer does not touch the bottom of the pot. These goods are sold exclusively through agents to families, and every housekeeper should by all means have them. A splendid opportunity is offered to some reliable lady or gentleman contractor of this county to supply the agency for a pleasant and profitable business. For terms, territory, etc., write to L. E. Brown & Co., Box 214 and 216 Elm Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.
